BERIA FIRED AS SOVIET POLICE HEAD, TO BE TRIED AS TRAITOR

SHE WAS CURIOUS — While visiting in Providence, R. I., four-year-old Barbara Dugall of Newark, Ohio, became interested in a ball game and before she knew it, her head became stuck in the bars of a metal fence. Police and a fire department rescue squad freed her by using crowbars to pry the bars. Barbara was unhurt in the operation—but she missed a lot of the game.

UN, Red Truce Talkers Meet Briefly, Recess Until Tonight

PANMUNJOM (AP) — Allied and Communist negotiators met secretly for 29 minutes today, then recessed until tomorrow their efforts to clear the final obstacles to a Korean truce still bitterly opposed by South Korea.

There was no hint whether the top-level delegations made progress toward signing an armistice during their first meeting in 20 days.

But the scheduling of another session for 11 a.m. tomorrow (9 p.m. EST today) was regarded as an indication that no serious disagreement had cropped up.

Informed quarters speculated that much of the session was devoted to Communist demands that the U. N. Command guarantee South Korean compliance with armistice terms. President Syngman Rhee has threatened to pull his 16-division army out of the UNC and fight on alone to unify his nation.

In their reply Wednesday, the Reds suggested that the full delegations convene to "discuss implementation of the armistice agreement" and to work out various preparations necessary before the signing ceremonies.

One source pointed out that the prisoner exchange agreement already signed calls for the two sides to trade up-to-date prisoner rosters before a truce is signed. It also provides that the lists be checked before the signing.

There has been no announcement of lists being exchanged.

Correspondent Alan Winnington of the London Daily Worker told Western newsmen here Friday:

"The thing now is whether the United Nations commander will give assurance that the armistice will not be broken. Rhee does not figure in the signing, only the military commanders of the two sides."

Litty Named Co-Chairman Of Polio Drive

John C. Litty of Salem and Attorney Donald D. Shay of East Liverpool have been appointed co-chairmen of the Columbiana County Polio Fund Drive, it was announced today by E. Allen McKeever, chairman of the county chapter of the National Association for Infantile Paralysis.

The polio fund drives start in January of every year.

A World War I veteran and a member of the Salem Board of Education, Litty is the proprietor of the McMillan Abstract Co. in Lisbon. He resides at 754 E. Third St. At one time he was county treasurer.

Shay is a partner in the East Liverpool law firm of Vodrey, Vodrey, Buzzard and Shay. A former solicitor at East Liverpool, he has been secretary - treasurer of the Columbiana County Bar Association since 1940.

He is active in the PTA and the executive committee of the East Liverpool Salvation Army, and is a director of the Potters Bank & Trust Co. and a trustee of the First Presbyterian Church.

Two From Columbiana Area Have Polio

The Department of Health has received a definite diagnosis of non-paralitic poliomyelitis from St. Elizabeth's Hospital in Youngstown of two cases recently admitted there for diagnosis Both victims, a man 26, and a boy 5, reside near Columbiana.

So far this year, these are the only two proven cases of polio reported from the General Health District of Columbiana County.

The department has already provided the necessary gamma globulin for the protection of the family contacts of each case.

Dr. Robert Dunlap, health commissioner, urges the prompt reporting of all cases and suspicious cases of polio in the general health district to his office so that the polio situation may be as closely guarded as possible during the coming months. He explained that prompt reporting as well as community cooperation were imperative if we are to make our limited protective facilities and measures effective.

Dr. Dunlap also reported two typhoid fever cases, one a 12-year-old Columbiana boy and the other a Salem man.

Dr. Dunlap said the typhoid fever cases had been traced to a well on property adjoining the Valley Golf Course between Leetonia and Columbiana The health department has sealed the well after tests showed the water was contaminated.

He said both victims reportedly drank water from the well.

2 Boys Detained In Columbiana Thefts

LISBON — Two Columbiana youths, one 14 and the other 15, were given five-day terms in county detention rooms Thursday by Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin for their part in a series of thefts and breakings and enterings at Columbiana.

Eight other youths, ranging from 11 to 16 were returned to the custody of their parents while a 14-year-old boy, described as the "ring leader" will receive a hearing Monday before Judge Tobin.

One of the boys sentenced will be kept in the detention room at Lisbon and the other at East Liverpool.

The youths were rounded up earlier this week by Columbiana police and juvenile authorities and had been responsible for a series of breaking and enterings for the past several months.

Hanoverton Boy, 14, Is Reported Missing

LISBON — Mrs. C. L. Tucker of Hanoverton reported to the sheriff's office her son, James Haberland, 14, has been missing from home since Wednesday morning.

When last seen the youth was wearing overalls. He stands 5-6, weighs 125 and has brown hair.

Ike Blasts Matthews Out Of McCarthy Job

WASHINGTON (AP) — A vigorous blast from President Eisenhower, fired over the head of Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis), has blown J. B. Matthews out of the investigating job in which McCarthy had sought to keep him.

"Alien to America," the President said in obvious reference to the statement in a magazine article by Matthews that 7,000 Protestant clergymen are "the largest single group supporting the Communist apparatus" in this country.

McCarthy promptly accepted the resignation of Matthews, whom he has called "a star spangled American," as executive staff director of the Senate investigations subcommittee which the Wisconsin senator heads.

The fast breaking developments which marked Matthews' departure underscored seemingly strained relations between Eisenhower and McCarthy, who several times have seemed on the verge of head-on collisions.

McCarthy, for years the center of controversy in Washington, was simultaneously involved in two other brushes with the administration. These came when the senator:

1. Moved to call before his subcommittee top officials of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), including Director Allen Dulles, for some possibly explosive questioning. McCarthy accused Dulles, a brother of Eisenhower's secretary of state, of refusing to let the McCarthy subcommittee question a CIA employe.

2. Aimed sharp criticism at a new State Department directive declaring that some Communist writers' books may be used in the U. S. overseas libraries. He got a swift reply indicating the department intends to stick to its guns.

Matthews, whose article about alleged communism in the ranks of Protestant clergymen had stirred up a bitter row apparently acknowledged defeat within a few minutes after the White House made public Eisenhower's denunciation of his views.

He submitted a new letter of resignation as executive staff director of McCarthy's subcommittee, with a defiant declaration that his article in the American Mercury magazine "is completely factual and fully documented." He has emphasized that he wrote that the vast majority of clergymen are loyal.

McCarthy, who had filed away an earlier resignation, accepted this one.

In cutting words, Eisenhower

Schnell Plant To Be Reopened

Latest Labor Board Ruling Paves Way

Plans are being completed for the reopening of the Schnell Tool & Die Corp. which has been idled by a strike called Nov. 7, M. S. Schnell, president said today. Opening date will be announced later.

The last formality terminating the more than eight-month old dispute was the recent ruling by the National Labor Relations Board dismissing the petition of decertification of the U.S.A., C.I.O. filed by Attorney Ralph Atkinson in behalf of company employes, following a brief filed by the union in which it disclaimed any interest in the local workers.

Prior to the filing of the brief by the union June 16, counsel for the union repudiated any current representative interest in the matter at a meeting held June 8 in City Hall by N.L.R.B., union, and company representatives, approximately 20 Schnell workers and Atkinson.

The N.L.R.B. had scheduled the hearing to gather facts and to hear interested parties to the decertification action filed by the employes.

According to Atkinson, the petition of decertification of the U.S. A., C.I.O. was filed March 25, but the N.L.R.B. refused to take any action until it had ruled on the unfair labor practice charges filed against the company.

On May 12, the N.L.R.B. gave the company "a clean bill of health" and refused to issue a complaint on the matter.

Schnell said today that vacation checks for employes who worked for the company when the strike began are ready and may be picked up anytime. The checks, he said, include money which accrued after Oct. 11, when the union-company contract expired, and until the strike was called.

Since the strike was called, Schnell said, the Salem Stamping & Manufacturing Co., Inc., which is housed in the same building and is a separate Schnell enterprise, has granted hourly boosts totaling an average of 20 cents per hour, including a blanket hike of 10 cents per hour last Monday.

Forty-six of the 50 Schnell Tool & Die Co. employes who went on strike in November have since returned to work at the Salem Stamping & Manufacturing Co., he said.

Hogan Posts 34 On 1st Nine Holes

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Ben Hogan, U. S. Open champion, shot a two-under par 34 on the front nine at Carnoustie today and needed to play the backside in 37 to beat the leading 286 scores already posted in the British Open Golf Championship. Par for the incoming nine is 36.

Frank Stranahan, Toledo, Ohio, amateur, and Dai Rees, Britain, finished before Hogan with 286's.

Stranahan shot a last round 69, equalling the course record, finishing with an eagle three on a great 40-foot putt.

Rees missed a four-foot putt on the home green which would have given the British Ryder Cup veteran the lead. He got a 71.

Antonio Cerda of Argentina, who still is a strong contender, was two under par through his first five holes.

Boy Scouts Leave Sunday For Jamboree

"California here we come" will be the cry of some 39 district Boy Scouts and their four leaders as the party leaves Sunday morning for the National Boy Scout Jamboree.

The delegation will represent Columbiana Boy Scout Council at the national encampment July 17-23 at Irvine Ranch near Newport Harbor, Calif.

Leaving by train from Youngstown, the scouts will have plenty of time to stop at various points for sightseeing trips.

The scouts will arrive at the site of the jamboree Wednesday and will return to Youngstown the morning of July 30.

George Robertson and Wilbur Spanabel, both of Columbiana, Eugene Seeley of Chester and Jack Glover of Wellsville are the adult leaders.

Columbiana has 12 scouts going, Salem 10, East Liverpool four, East Palestine five, Wellsville three, Chester two, Newell two and Millport one.

Power Saws Stolen From District Store

LISBON — Deputy Sheriff Al Hartman reported two power chain saws valued at $600 were taken from the Witmer Sales Co. on Route 14 near Washingtonville sometime early this week.

Hartman said entrance to the building was gained through a rear window. A store employe noticed the broken window Tuesday but did not discover the saw was missing until Thursday.

7th Division Breaks Up 2 Red Assaults

SEOUL (AP)—Infantrymen and big guns of the U. S. 7th Division broke up two more Chinese attacks today in the four-day struggle for Porkchop Hill in Western Korea.

Booming artillery shells scattered some 40 Reds who rushed the dug-in Americans. U. S. foot soldiers hurled the Communists down the slopes of the Allied-held height in savage hand-to-hand fighting. The Reds still had a toehold on part of the hill.

Another fierce battle raged six miles to the northeast where tough South Korean soldiers held off 400 attacking Reds.

An Allied artillery observer said one shelling killed or wounded every one of 100 Chinese trying to pull off a western finger of Porkchop Hill.

A company of Reds circled around Porkchop at 4:30 a. m. and assaulted the southeastern side of the Allied outpost hill. American reinforcements chopped up part of the group that survived heavy shelling.

Industrial Gas Rate Boost Okayed

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The state utilities commission today authorized the Natural Gas Co. of West Virginia to increase rates to 70 industrial customers in Ohio.

The rate increase of five cents 1,000 cubic feet is effective immediately and will add about $199,532 a year. It affects industries in Belmont, Carroll, Columbiana, Harrison, Jefferson, Mahoning, Monroe, Stark and Tuscarawas Counties.

No action has yet been taken on a second application filed by the Columbia System affiliate to raise residence rates in communities in those counties.

Axle-Mile Tax Assembly Okays

Bitter Intraparty Fight Hits GOP

COLUMBUS, O. (AP)—The Republican Ohio highway program is practically on the law books — 20 million dollar a year axle mile truck tax, penny gasoline tax boost and all.

The highway package blasted through the Senate Thursday and the House quickly accepted the Senate versions of all measures.

But Senate passage of the program cost Republicans more than they wanted to pay. The Senate session wound up in a Republican-eat-Republican verbal brawl which scuttled party harmony and the hoped-for final adjournment of the 100th General Assembly is only a week away.

The Senate approved a proposal to submit to the voters next November a constitutional amendment authorizing issuance of 500 million dollars worth of bonds to finance a speeded-up road building bogged down earlier in the House.

But the House agreed, finally, to let the people vote on whether they want to get improved highways quickly or get them on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The Senate vote on the axle-mile tax measure followed predictions

Kremlin No. 2 Man Denounced As Aiding Foreign Capitalists; Malenkov Heads Accusers

MOSCOW (AP)—Lavrenty P. Beria, longtime head of Russia's police forces and first deputy to Premier Georgi M. Malenkov, has been fired from the Soviet government, expelled from the Communist party and turned over to his nation's highest tribunal as a traitor.

The party newspaper Pravda denounced him today as an agent of international imperialism and an "enemy of the Communist party and the Soviet people."

A party communique said Malenkov himself outlined the case against Beria at a recent meeting of the party Central Committee, which took away party membership and office from the 54-year-old veteran Red.

A separate communique said the Presidium of the Supreme Soviet (Parliament) had removed the disgraced Beria from his posts as first deputy premier of the Soviet Union and minister of internal affairs.

"It was decided also by the Presidium that the case on the criminal actions of L. P. Beria should be turned over to the Supreme Court of the USSR," the announcement added.

Beria

The party accused Beria of "criminal activities designed at subverting the Soviet state in the interests of foreign capitalism' and of trying to put his Internal of the Soviet Union."

Pravda said he had planned secretly to "seize the leadership of the party and the country" in order to restore capitalism.

(In Western capitals, non-Communist observers speculated that Beria was the first victim of the power struggle within the Kremlin following Stalin's death, and also that he possibly was being made the scapegoat for the recent East German uprisings and other unrest in the Soviet satellites).

Charge Referred To Berlin Riots, POW Release

The charge that Beria acted in the interests of foreign imperialism was viewed here as a clear reference to the recent riots in Berlin and the release of North Korean prisoners of war by South Korean President Syngman Rhee. The Russian press has charged that these events were related parts of a Western plan to prevent peace.

The government announced Sergei N. Kruglov had been named internal affairs chief. He had headed the ministry until Stalin's death, when it was combined with Beria's Ministry of State Security and Beria took over.

Pravda called for the party to "regularly verify the work of all organizations and institutions, and the activity of all leading officials." It added: "It is necessary to take under systematic and unweakening control, the activity of the organs of the Ministry of Internal Affairs."

Pravda gave these details of Beria's offenses:

He advanced officials in his ministry on the basis of their personal loyalty to him.

He "put the brake by every means possible on decisions of the most important and urgent questions in the field of agriculture . . . in order to undermine the collective farms and create difficulties in our country's food supply."

He tried to "sow enmity between the people of the USSR" and to encourage nationalist tendencies in the individual Soviet republics, at the expense of all-Soviet unity.

He "intentionally held up the realization' of party and government directives and "in a series of cases attempted to distort them."

"The incontrovertible facts show that Beria lost the character of a Communist, that he became transformed into a bourgeois degenerate, that he became in fact an agent of international imperialism.

"This adventurer and hireling of foreign imperialist forces gave birth to plans for seizing the leadership of the party and country for purposes of wrecking our Communist party and replacing the policy worked out by the party over many years with a policy of capitulations which would lead in the end to a restoration of capitalism."

The party organ repeated a familiar warning:

"While there exists a capitalist encirclement, it sends and will continue to send into our midst its agents for subversive activity. It is necessary to remember this, never to forget it, and to keep our weapons sharp against the imperialists' intelligence service and their hirelings."

Town Hall Speaker's Prophecy On Beria Becomes A Fact

One of the prophecies of Louis Fischer, traveler, author and acknowledged authority on Russia, who appeared on the Salem Town Hall program March 6, came to pass today with the announcement of Beria's arrest in Moscow.

Scheduled to talk on "U. S. In World Affairs," Fischer discarded his prepared subject and gave an impromptu address on the internal Russian and world events portended by the death of Stalin on the previous day.

Among his predictions, Fischer included these statements:

The Secret Police is a very powerful force in Russia and must be absolutely ruled by anyone seeking the complete control over Russia that Stalin held.

Stalin, he said, several times purged that organization and Malenkov doubtless will follow this procedure.

He said the triangle destined to rule Russia for the present would be composed of Malenkov, Molotov and Beria, with the former two cooperating to keep Beria in check.

As unfolding events attest, Beria has been checked.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State Dulles today ordered the U. S. Ambassador to Moscow, Charles E. Bohlen, home for consultation on the dismissal of L. P. Beria from the Soviet government and Communist party.

The State Department said Dulles wants to get Bohlen's views while the Big Three foreign ministers' meeting is under way here.

Big 3 To Study Beria Downfall

Move Could Mean Change In Red Policy

WASHINGTON (AP)—The downfall of Lavrenty P. Beria as Red Russia's second most powerful man presented this challenging question today for the Big Three Western foreign ministers: does it foreshadow any change in Soviet foreign policy?

In immediate reaction to last night's Moscow announcement of Beria's expulsion from government and Communist party posts, experts appeared somewhat divided on this critical point.

There was some thought here that Beria might be made the scapegoat for policies which permitted the recent uprisings against Communist rule in East Germany. But other opinion held that Beria's fate should be considered primarily as a dramatic incident in Soviet internal politics.

At any rate, the development gave new urgency to the Big Three talks between Secretary of State Dulles, acting British Foreign Secretary Lord Salisbury and Foreign Minister Georges Bidault of France, whose conferences open this afternoon (about 2 p.m. EST).

One of their concerns is to analyze what has recently been happening in East Germany, what Russia's intentions are and what the Western Powers may be able to do to take advantage of the situation.

On one aspect of the Beria affair, U. S. officials were in full agreement. That is that Soviet Premier Georgi Malenkov is acting decisively and ruthlessly to consolidate his power as Stalin's successor.

It was noted that Malenkov presented to the Communist party's Central Committee a report on Beria's alleged criminal activities in the interest of "foreign capital" which led to Beria's expulsion from the party.

The deposed leader also lost his job as first deputy chairman of the Council of Ministers and as minister for home affairs, the position which gave him control of the Council and there, as in the government, his position was considered second only to that of the Premier.

Speculation about possible effects on Soviet foreign policy arose from the theory that, as Malenkov succeeds in securing his hold on Soviet power, he may take a tougher line abroad. It was also believed the reference to "foreign capital" may be the beginning of a new propaganda campaign against the U S.

And since things have gone badly for the Russians in Germany under recent Soviet policy, it is not inconceivable that Beria may be blamed for any mistakes which Malenkov thinks were made. Policy changes could follow.

On the other hand, all recent evidence has indicated that Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov is really making decisions on foreign affairs. And there is no sign that Molotov's power has weakened.

Diplomats said it is possible, but by no means certain, that the Big Three conference would decide to press Russia for steps toward ending the division of Germany. Such a move could put to the acid test Russia's intentions in Europe.

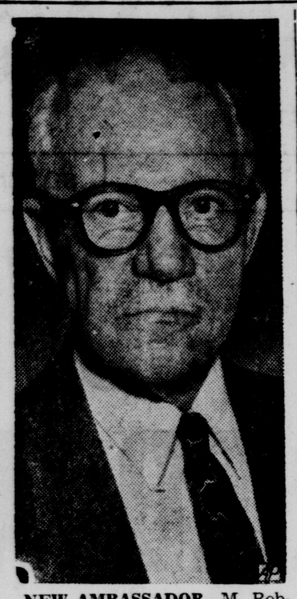

A six point plan of "immediate measures" proposed by West Germany was assured of full consideration. The plan is designed to wipe out East-West barriers splitting Germany and establish political freedom in the Eastern zone.

In addition to their conferences with Dulles, running through Tuesday, Salisbury and Bidault are to call on President Eisenhower for at least brief talks.

The extent to which the Korean truce and political problems will enter into the discussions probably will be determined by the speed with which truce negotiations move to a climax. Should an armistice be agreed upon before Tuesday, Korean and other Far Eastern political problems would become much more urgent.

Dulles, welcoming Salisbury and Bidault to Washington yesterday, stressed heavily the informality of the talks here. There was no fixed agenda, but all agree that probably more time would be spent on the German problem than any other single issue.

Salisbury said the Churchill government still believes in the desirability of a Big Four meeting, including Russia, "at the proper time." That was before word of the upheaval in the Kremlin. The U S. government is not very sympathetic with the idea of a Big Four conference in the immediate future.

Dewey Denies Ike Asked Him To Run Again

NEW YORK (AP) — Gov. Thomas E. Dewey denied today a published report that President Eisenhower has "let it be known" to him that he would like him to run for governor next year, and that Dewey acceded.

"Sheer fiction" Dewey told a newsman when asked for comment on a New York Daily News story from Washinton. Dewey said the subject was not mentioned when he visited the White House this week.

The News said Eisenhower had made the same overture to Republican Sen. James H. Duff regarding the governorship of Pennsylvania. "Dewey said yes. Duff said maybe," the News said.

Duff could not be reached for comment.

Friendly Portugal

By INEZ ROBB

LISBON

And now, as I bid a fond farewell to Portugal—I wish I didn't have to:

At this point, I would like to drag my feet. I fell in love with Portual at first sight in 1939, and have been true in my tourist fashion ever since. Fourteen years! That's a long time for for any affair to last in this day and age.

Inez Robb

Portugal occupies the lovely hills and valleys that roll down from Spain to the Atlantic Ocean, a more green and gentle land than Spain. It manages to crowd a lot of charming scenery into a relatively small space.

IN ADDITION, it is a very comforting country for the foot-sore tourist. He can just sit with his feet up and relax without feeling impelled to run around exploring museums and art galleries. The Portuguese have some of both, but nothing imperative.

No one regards the visitor as a lowlife if he decides to go swimming at Estoril instead of swooping off to the Cathedral. In fact, Portuguese friends are likely to grab a swim suit and come along.

But if one is the eager beaver or repulsive type tourist, there are ruins here. In fact, the ruins of a Moorish fort overlook Lisbon, and the tourist-conscious Portuguese government is prettying up the place.

And there is a castle at Sintra, only 30 miles away, that is so enchanting in every way that even your arches forget to ache.

PORTUGUESE are immensely proud of two things. First, every time Spain in the old days tried to absorb her small neighbor, David licked Goliath to a standstill, and second, in the fifteenth and sixteenth centuries, Portugal produced the greatest race of navigator-explorers the world has ever known.

This nation is willing to admit that Christopher Columbus was fairly good, but not quite up to their Magellan, De Gama, Cabral, Albuquerque, De Andrade, De-Susa and Fernandes, to name only a few, who opened up vast new worlds for the old world.

Commander Jose Cabral, descendant of the sixteenth century explorer, lives up to the family tradition in the twentieth century.

THE LINDBERGH of Portugal, Com. Cabral constituted the slender life-line of air communications between free Europe and Africa during World War II.

Via Aero-Portuguesa, the commander flew American and British diplomatic papers into Africa in the tense months before the Allied invasion.

On more than one occasion, the Portuguese flier carried high Allied brass, including Gen. Mark Clark, to African rendezvous.

"And Gen. Clark never lost his pants when he flew with me,' the commander, now assistant to the European sales director of Trans-World Airlines, said the other day.

HIS MANY decorations include the American Legion of Merit and the Order of the British Empire.

The Portuguese and the British have always been sympatico. The British have pioneered Portugal as a year-round resort.

The result is that a surprising number of Portuguese speak English in the cities. And the country people are so filled with good will that it is not difficult for the tourist to get along, even in sign language.

We Americans have left our mark, too, on Portugal, the great exporter of sardines. At first, the Portuguese canned skinless and boneless sardine only for whimsical American palates. Now, they prefer 'em that way themselves.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

WASHINGTON — An irate political posse, which went galloping after J. Edgar Hoover and the FBI, has discovered that the man it wants instead is the "assistant president" of the U. S., Sherman Adams.

Victor Riesel

The angered Republicans on Capitol Hill have dispatched word to President Eisenhower that they want a shakeup and the right to deal directly with the man they helped elect president or they'll declare open political warfare.

The GOP leaders, threatened with revolt back home by men in their own districts upon whom they depend for campaign support, have found that nothing happened to their suggestions to the White House for political appointments.

When the Republican congressmen, upon whom Eisenhower must depend for support on the Hill, asked why their people were not getting patronage, word returned from Sherman Adam's corner that it was all due to "FBI delays.'

THE CONGRESSMEN then got to the FBI and learned that the Bureau has been clearing each case submitted to it in an average of 18 days. Some have taken as little as four days.

The longest elapsed time was six weeks. In between there have been cases of top echelon men which required the work of as many as 15 FBI field offices. The Bureau has had to check into almost 1,000 key men.

The irritated congressmen learned, for example, that this work started almost the day after the 1952 election.

Gen. Eisenhower would confer in his now famous Hotel Commodore (N. Y.) campaign headquarters with a prospective Cabinet member.

The moment Ike's offer for a Cabinet post was accepted, the general ordered each appointee to telephone the FBI immediately and ask for a complete check.

THEN THE Senate's Foreign Relations Committee adopted the policy of requiring a complete FBI check for the heads of all foreign missions. Many of these diplomats had lived abroad most of their lives.

Key "witnesses" in these checkups on the diplomats were often in travel status or living abroad. These were the associates who had to be checked, having lived or worked with the mission chief over the years. Even to find such men for routine questioning took vast research.

The job of the Bureau, it has developed under Ike, is to check capabilities and character as well as loyalty. This has meant going into even the college records of many appointees.

Over all this work hovered the FBI's left-wing critics, waiting for the slightest error so they could whirlwind it up into an international incident.

THERE WAS the case of Mildred McAfee Horton, which got so much notoriety and seemed to reflect on the FBI. The State Department group approached her, asking if she would serve as a U. S. delegate to a U. N. conference scheduled for May 4. She agreed, but then heard nothing.

Mrs. Horton inquired, and the story was leaked to a columnist.

The FBI was blamed directly by a Mrs. Bertha Adkins, whom the State Department asked to talk to Mrs. Horton. Mrs. Adkins said the delay was due to an overworked FBI, which, she said, had broken down and couldn't complete its work.

Truth is that the FBI had actually turned in its report on Mrs. Horton three weeks earlier. It had been snafued by the State Department.

There was the case of Marvin Curtis Nichols. The Interior Department people passed word on to the newsmen that failure to appoint him commissioner of Reclamation was the FBI's fault.

WE CHECKED. We learned that the probe had been requested on April 7. Three days later, the Interior crowd asked that the check be discontinued. On April 20, they revived the probe. On May 5 the investigation was completed by the FBI.

On June 2, Nichols was still hanging around, waiting.

Recently, a Pennsylvania political leader demanded to know of the White House what had happened to a list of 21 appointees for federal jobs in his home state.

The FBI was blamed. It developed that only three of the names had been forwarded to the G-men.

A mid-west senator, complaining about a similar case, was given the same answer. It developed that the list here was not forwarded to the FBI for three weeks.

IT'S ALL DUE to the closeness with which the White House patronage people play their game.

They insisted, for example, on the appointment of Tom Lyon as head of the terrificially important Bureau of Mines. They ignored the FBI's report that he was on a private pension, being paid by a copper corporation.

When this was made public, Eisenhower looked foolish and had to withdraw the name, although he had nothing to do with the appointment. It had been promised by Adams.

Numberous appointees come to Washington and sit around because of the practice of public promises first and FBI checks later.

All of which will result in a shakeup of White House top personnel soon enough.

The FBI's probes are vital and President Eisenhower is determined they continue as a safeguard against the recurrence of past espionage and racketeering scandals.

Korea Can Be United

The deal which has been hammered out on the anvil of adversity by President Rhee and the anvil experts of the United States will be tested by time.

The key to it is the proviso that South Korea will not be a party to the truce, which was sought by both sides, though it will abide by the truce terms.

This will give peace negotiators a chance to do what President Eisenhower held out as the brightest hope of the truce — negotiate a peace which would guarantee the unification of Korea—without committing South Korea to underwrite the result in advance.

President Rhee's insistance that unification would be impossible if Communist troops were allowed to stay on Korean soil held up the truce negotiations. But that point, too, has been covered.

The United States — not the United Nations —will come to South Korea's aid if South Korea is attacked. And needless to say, South Korea will be ready to come to its own aid if attacked — both ready and able.

In the "rehabilitation" program to be undertaken with U. S. aid, there will be a place for a continuation of the military buildup which has made South Korea the only formidable military power in Asia proper, except Communist China.

In the present condition of things in Europe, the Kremlin sponsors of the Korean war will be less enthusiastic than they were three years ago about bleeding away their military potential in a lost cause.

Americans remember with difficulty that the military operations they conduct so inefficiently — in their unrestrained opinion — have been marvels of efficiency to their enemies. This is a fact that never emerges until historic perspective has been gained.

By 1975, what happened in Korea between 1950 and 1953 may look better than it has looked the last few years.

GOP Muffed A Chance

Failure of the Republican majority in the Ohio House of Representatives to put through a resolution calling for a referendum on setting up legislative districts in Cuyahoga County was a major political fumble.

The referendum would have been in favor of the proposal, and the proposal was clearly favorable to Ohio Republicans.

In the 100th General Assembly of Ohio, only one of the six senators from the 25th district (Cuyahoga County) is a Republican.

Cuyahoga County has 17 members in the House of Representatives. Only four of these are Republicans. Yet the county's voters are not four-to-one Democratic.

The explanation for this lopsided political division is simple. Cleveland is one of the key points in the Democratic strategy of controlling votes.

Democratic machine voters in Cleveland proper are used in close presidential elections to offset Republican votes elsewhere in the state.

The same voters are the reason Ohio has so many Democratic governors, though Cleveland is the state's only Democratic city.

By pooling all Cuyahoga County votes for members of the General Assembly, Democrats can keep their party in control of the county's delegation in Columbus.

The Republican party has muffed a chance to whittle down a party influence out of all proportion to the numerical strength of Democrats in Cuyahoga County.

'Administration Forces'

In the House Ways and Means Committee showdown on excess profits tax continuation, a significant thing happened.

"Administration forces," it was reported, jammed the measure through the committee and were prepared to jam it through the House of Representatives.

The "administration forces" in this case were nine Republicans and seven Democrats, voting against six Republicans and three Democrats.

Despite the fact this was a "must" measure backed by President Eisenhower and Secretary of Treasury Humphrey, it did not command enough Republican votes to get it out of the Ways and Means Committee. It did not command even the support of the Republican chairman of the committee, Rep. Reed of New York.

The significance of this has nothing to do with the principle of the excess profits tax, or the principle of taxation in general. It reveals a political situation in the 83rd Congress during the first year of the presidency of Dwight Eisenhower.

Elected by a bipartisan vote, though seeking election on a partisan ticket, President Eisenhower is seeking and finding his legislative support in both parties. It is possible that in the 1954 congressional elections, candidates for the House and Senate may run as pro-Eisenhower Democrats and pro-Eisenhower Republicans, to distinguish themselves from anti-Eisenhower members of both parties.

Profits Tax Die Cast

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Act May Spell Political Doom Of Eisenhower

The Republicans on the House Ways and Means Committee and the Democrats who helped them report out a bill to extend the excess - profits-tax law may have unwittingly voted to make the next depression the worst in American history.

For the die has been cast now—if the Congress passes the proposed bill and a business recession sets in any time during the first half of next year, it could conceivably start a slide which would be far more severe than would have been the case otherwise.

The favorable vote of every member of the House and Senate on the extension of the excess-profits law will rise to plague him if the depression comes.

It will be a simple matter to show the relationship between that vote and the momentum given to a business decline.

This is because of a peculiar situation that has developed in what is known as a catching-up on corporation tax collections.

Under a statutory change now in effect, every corporation which used to pay its taxes for the preceding calendar year on a quarterly basis in the following year will find itself compelled to pay 45 per cent of its taxes for 1953 by March 15 and 90 per cent by June 30, 1954.

This is very important to American business because, if a recession comes, it will not be possible to abate the payment of taxes during the second half of 1954 and take a credit, as used to be the case.

Nearly all of the tax money will have been paid out and refunds will not be effective until the beginning of the calendar year 1955.

The meaning of this in terms of working capital for businesses that are hit by a recession is clear to those who know how successfully the refund system worked at the close of World War II.

At that time, it was possible to cease paying quarterly taxes and use the reserve funds that had been put away for tax payments to the federal government as a cushion or capital fund to stay in business during a difficult transition period.

Many businesses have figured on the accumulation of a reserve fund for a post-Korean depression out of the savings made on the abatement of a half year of excess-profits taxes. This relief now appears to be headed for the wastebasket.

It is misleading for the Treasury and for Representative Cooper, ranking minority member of the Ways and Means Committee, to argue that, because out of the 424,000 corporations only 50,000 paid ar excess-profits tax, the tax isn't painful.

Actually, the statistics that should have been disclosed, in all fairness, are those that show the total amount of business or volume of sales done by those 50,000 corporations and the number of persons employed.

Everybody who knows anything about corporation statistics is aware that, of the 424,000 corporations, the largest number employ less than 20 persons.

The real problem of unemployment and the disastrous chain reaction that can start in and affect all other businesses is to be found in those 50,000 corporations that are paying excess-profits taxes.

Many of them are the competitors of the truly big businesses. What the Treasury should also have disclosed is the total number of big corporations that either pay no excess - profits taxes or a negligible amount.

The dominant units in various industries aren't worrying about an excess - profits-tax repeal because they know it doesn't affect them materially but will affect their smaller competitors.

When a recession sets in, the administration will get no help from the Democrats who helped sabotage the Republican pledge of a reduction of taxes, for they will be the first to blame the Republicans for the depression.

The crucial period is the last six months of 1953—and it will be too late to lock the barn in 1954 by remedial legislation. Many businesses may be closing their doors then.

The administration's only chance to save itself politically will come if the depression holds off for another year, thus giving time for legislation to be passed making refunds of excess-profits-tax money.

The Atom And Medical Science

By TOM DAWSON

LONDON

Don't let the terrifying flash of the atomic bomb blind you to the exciting possibilities for swift industrial and medical progress which atomic energy holds.

Britain's "forgotten army" of scientists, research workers, engineers, doctors and nurses quietly continues its industrial and medical revolution of the atomic era.

Often working in conditions of danger and discomfort, these scientists have silently harnessed atomic energy so that it will, in the end, provide electricity, power for ships and submarines, revolutionize industry and greatly advance medical science.

Scientists already have provided powerful new weapons for the treatment and diagnosis of many diseases including cancer. A radioactive cobalt "bomb," the powerful rays of which are lethal to cancer cells, is being used at Leeds Infirmary.

Cheaper than radium, and with gamma rays more penetrating than most X-rays, there will be no shortage of cobalt "bombs" as the atomic era progresses.

On Manchester's doorstep in the specially built new laboratories of the Christie Hospital and Holt Radium Institute at Didsbury, "isotopes" — elements made radioactive by "cooking" in the Harwell Atomic Pile — are opening up encouraging fields of research

Used in all branches of science and medicine, these radioactive "tracers" give an analysis millions of times more powerful than chemical analysis.

A radioactive "isotope" 'in the human body can be traced wherever it goes as a spot of light on a screen, and at the Christie Hospital radioactive iodine is one of the new weapons used to plot diseased thyroid glands.

Iodine always concentrates in the thyroid gland, and radioactive iodine, taken in a glass of water, can shortly afterward be detected in the gland. Its shape can then be plotted and the diseased condition recognized.

Where thrombosis of the leg is suspected, an isotope can be injected in the foot in the form of an active sodium chloride solution. By moving a "Beiger Counter" up and down the leg, the point of constriction of the blood flow is accurately located.

A tremendous advance in the harnessing of atomic energy to help mankind came last month from the United States—and soon will be followed in Britain.

Twentieth century American "magic' created a "breeder reactor' which produces more atomic fuel as it consumes. This discovery increased by 140 times the usable power from uranium and insured that atomic energy will be widely used on the electric grid and throughout our industry.

It insured that there will be enough atomic fuel for peaceful uses, as well as for bombs.

Britain is close behind the United States in the production of a magical "breeder reactor" and an experimental pile of this kind will begin operating at Harwell in a few weeks.

"Coming events cast their shadows before" and Britain already is studying the harnessing of atomic power for ships and submarines.

The use of the deadly gamma rays to kill bacteria in food, to preserve it, while leaving it safe and tasty to eat, has reached an advanced stage at Harwell.

Some "tracers," such as Carbon 14, are being used in agricultural biology and seeds have been experimentally radioactivated. In the widespread use of these isotopes, British industry, particularly in the northwest, proudly claims: "We are second to no one."

At Manchester's Shirley Institute, isotopes were used to solve the costly bugbear of "fog marking" on rayon and other synthetic fiber cloth.

Static electricity from some idle looms attracts dirt from the atmosphere and causes the expensive "fog marking." Washing and scouring proved useless, but Shirley's scientists provided the answer by earthing the electrical charge through a small meta. strip bearing an isotope of thallium.

Britain stands on the threshold of the new atomic era. Given peace, the atom offers a great challenge to scientists to harness it for the benefit of man.

It Could Be, You Know!

Government By Bureaucrats

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

The following letter was sent as a circular to a large number of persons and is a direct attack on the fiscal policies and administrative directives of President Eisenhower.

Sokolsky

The question it raises is whether the authority of government is vested in the elected officers of this nation, who function in accordance with the Constitution, or whether an appointive bureaucracy may sabotage the government, use official stationery and the franking privilege in the mails to create a public sentiment against the authorities

The further question is raised in this letter as to whether budgetary appropriations are to be made by Congress, as the Constitution provides, or by appointed officials to suit their desires and convenience.

I GIVE the circular letter in full:

Department of State
International Claims Commission of the United States
Washington
June 25, 1953

"Dear Sir or Madam: This letter (addressed to claimants, their attorneys and members of congress) is to advise that due to the neglect, failure and refusal of the administration to authorize the submission of a budget request for the Commission to the Congress for the fiscal year commencing July 1, 1953, the Commission will be without funds, commencing on that date and, accordingly, will be unable to exercise its functions as required by law.

"Since all members of the staff of the Commission are being separated as of June 30, 1953, due to lack of funds, this letter will serve as a cancellation of previous notices of hearings pending before the Commission and scheduled on or after July 1, 1953.

"No further action at this time can be taken by the Commission with respect to claims filed under the Yugoslav and Panama claims settlements. Nor can the Commission advise as to the action which may be taken with respect to the reverter rights of these governments in the funds under its jurisdiction.

"This Commission was established by law (Public Law 455, 81st Congress) in the Department of State as a quasi-judicial independent tribunal to adjudicate claims and its decisions are final with no appeal to the Secretary of State or to the courts.

"Its members may be removed by the Secretary of State only for cause after notice and hearing.

"On June 9 and 10, 1953 the resignations of the members of the Commission were requested by responsible officials of the Department of State and of the Office of the President.

"Failing in their efforts to force the resignations of the Commissioners the administration is now withholding from Congress a budget request in order to deprive the Commission of funds with which to operate during the next fiscal year beginning July 1, 1953.

"The action of the administration in withholding this budget request is an unwarranted interference with quasi-judicial function of this Commission, and is an attempt to force resignations of its members.

Sincerely yours,
Josiah Marvel, Jr., Chairman
Raymond S. McKeough, Commissioner"

Messrs, Marvel and McKeough raise the interesting point, it would seem, that a bureau, once having been established, cannot be abolished.

-:-

AS CONGRESS can lawfully limit or abolish any agency of government by withholding funds, a challenge is hurled at the constitutional functions of Congress.

These bureaucrats deny the right of Congress to withhold funds or the "responsible officials of the Department of State and of the Office of the President" to ask for their resignations.

They refused to resign and regarded the refusal to provide funds as an "unwarranted interference." Who are these guys, anyhow?

Certainly when appointed officials set themselves up as superior to their own government, we are approaching an anarchistic state.

I know of one agency that is so hamstrung with inefficient personnel, subversives and saboteurs that a desperation besets the entire operation.

SOMEDAY a Fifth Amendment office-holder, who refused to answer whether he is now engaged in espionage for an enemy nation, will contend that he must be permitted to continue in his job because he enjoys Civil Service status.

As a matter of fact, some such contentions are being made on the basis of Civil Service and veteran preferences.

Some New Dealers take the impudent position that their jobs must be continued because they are convinced that the Democrats will win the Congress in 1954 and that then they will have all the protection they require.

Literary Value

By TRUMAN TWILL

The most interesting piece of literature I expect to see this year is on the mantel at home between the covers of a notebook — a nearly 200 - page manuscript in blank verse, which usually leaves me chilled and indifferent, but this is interesting for two reasons.

First is the peculiar circumstance that it was produced for his own pleasure by an old friend who does not pretend to be a writer. The idea bothered him so persistently he put it on paper hoping it would go away and let him alone.

Second, is the idea itself, which is a kind of morality play in modern talk, with modern settings—in fact with settings so commonplace that the unusual events which unfold in them seem incongruous.

Yet the thing does not even purport to be a play. It is an epic poem. It just happens to fall into scenes and acts as if it were a play, instead.

Everybody in our house has read it, except the youngest member of the family. All agreed it was hard to put down once it had been picked up, that it was without commercial value because no one would publish it and that if someone did publish it no one would buy it because it lacks extrinsic value.

We the experts have given our judgment.

Which raises a question about value — what it is and how it can be determined — or whether anyone knows what it is or how to determine it.

Best guess on this subject seems to be that absolute standards do not exist in literature and consequently no one ever knows what may have value. It all depends on what the public will pay for.

This depends, in turn, on a couple thousand things that can happen in several million combinations. That is why someone is always taking a long chance and winning, or betting on a sure thing and losing. No one can know.

While blank - verse manuscripts of great length are by no means common, they might as well be a dime a dozen as far as their commercial possibilities are concerned in 1953—but who knows this to be a fact?

Practically everything that has turned out to have commercial possibilities was shrugged off as hopeless at one stage or another of the guessing game.

Anyway, the most interesting piece of literature I expect to see this year is on the mantel at home. The thought of all that talent and skill put into it by a fellow who says he was just amusing himself makes a scribe feel like turning in his typewriter.

If only someone wanted a couple hundred pages of blank verse!

Or, in a more perfect world, would a creative genius automatically get credit for what he did, instead of being without value if he did not, instead of get cash for what other people thought of what he did?

Uncle Ef Says—

So many people put on airs or buy on the installment plan that you seldom hear the old-fashioned statement from acquaintances that they haven't got this or that because they can't afford it.

The Easter egg custom probably arose because in earlier days eggs were forbidden food during Lent and were always eaten on Easter Sunday, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

July Agenda

Grand writing distinguishes James Michener's "The Bridge at Toko-Ri," a specimen of which is this paragraph describing a mother who lost two boys in war: "Somewhere between the bombing of Pearl Harbor, where she lost one son, and Midway, where the second was killed, her mind lost focus and she started to drink and forget people's names until slowly, like petals of apple blossoms in spring, fragments of her gentle personality fell away and she would sit staring at a wall."

TV panels are becoming a dime a dozen but there is a new one "I'll Buy That" which is too good to be wasted on the morning air.

It violates the TV code against new faces and the unwritten law barring all but glitter boys.

There is a Hans Conreid on this panel who looks like a combination of Heywood Broun, Boris Karloff (in one of his wierder roles) and a hand-carved Penobscot umbrella handle . . . TV confines itself so much to cutey types that our first thought was that Conreid was doing a costume bit. . . . But he turned out to be one of the best of the new personalities.

Rudy has been delivering a commercial for himself for years and will enter the New York race almost as well known as Gabby Hayes, Garry Moore or Howdy Doody. (In fact, he may make the race as Howdy Rudy.)

He is an outstanding example of what TV can do in career building. A few years ago everybody thought that the only Halley was the discoverer of Halley's comet. . . . As top quizzer on the Kefauver Crime probe Rudy's face, talent for torrid cross examination, and rasping voice, became familiar to millions.

He became a top political figure not through the ringing words, "A public office is a public trust" and "Give me liberty or give me death" but through "Let me refresh your recollection," "Answer yes or no" and "That isn't what you told us in executive session, Mr. Costello."

Mr. Halley enters the New York campaign with the slogan "There's no business like show business." He will fight to the last "time-out-for-station-identification."

If elected he will remove all Dewey statues, forbid parents naming babies "Thomas" and promise the people a TV program in every pot and two guest stars in every garage.

Don't take Rudy lightly. . . . He is the lone survivor of the Kefauver inquiry, outlasting even Kefauver.

In our book he would make a mayor, falling somewhere between Rumpus Room, Bert Parks and Larry Spivak.

Whisky prices have gone up again, and the thing that hurts is that you can't get a free demonstration or any allowance on the old bottle.

President Eisenhower and his cabinet now meet for breakfast, and no good can come of it. Why start the day off that early with major worries? Breakfast should be the most carefree meal of the day and we would hurl the maple syrup bottle at anybody who brought up a budget, the excess profits tax or even Korea between flapjacks.

Maybe the court barred those convicted Commies from going to Coney Island for their swims because it believed that any attempt to reach the water through the midsummer crowds consituted an act of agrression.

During his recent trip East ex-President Truman helped pep up the drive for funds for a Truman Library at Grandview, Missouri. The goal is $1,750,000. That's a lot of money to devote to making sure that there is one library in the country in which there never will be a book by Sen. McCarthy. . . . Or "The Life and Times of Douglas MacArthur."

Many Republicans have offered to contribute the "Quiet" signs.

We have no idea what Harry intends to include in the Truman library but think it a fair guess that it will contain:

"Golf and Why I Hate It."
"Money and What of It!"
"My Cruise Among the Deficits."
"Through the Rapids With Unbalanced Budgets."
"Jujitsu and Its Relation to Music Critics."
"Letter Better Left Unmailed."
"The Technique of Baby-Kissing."
"My Life Among the Indian Tribes."

The hour of these meetings will be announced at the twilight meeting at the Raymond G. Lamb orchard, southwest of Greenford, next Tuesday evening.

REPORTS BIKE THEFT

Tommy Burns of 110 Woodland Ave. reported to police Thursday that someone stole his bicycle from the garage at his home sometime after he had left it there Tuesday.

WINGS AROUND RUSSIA—The sun never sets on the operations of the Military Air Transport Service, better known as MATS. The vast, global extent of the operations of the armed forces' cargo-carrying branch can be seen in the map. From Thule, Greenland, our farthest-north base, it is only 7½ hours to Moscow, and many MATS bases in Europe and Africa are closer than that. All MATS bases are potential bomber bases. MATS was formed only five years ago. Its first big test came with the Berlin airlift. Every hour of every day a MATS plane takes off or lands at one of the many bases that gird Communist Russia and her satellites.

Bids Rejected On 4 Sections Of Pike

COLUMBUS, O. (AP) — The Ohio Turnpike Commission Thursday rejected bids on four contract sections of the eastern part of the turnpike project in Mahoning and Trumbull Counties, south of Warren and Youngstown.

Basis for the action was that the bids, amounting to about 16 million dollars, exceeded the engineering estimates by about 43 per cent.

Chairman James W. Shocknessy said at a commission session today it was apparent engineering estimates contemplated a longer construction period than the Oct. 15, 1954, completion date specified by the commission.

Shocknessy and chief engineer T. J. Kauer agreed contractors contemplated payment of considerable overtime to complete jobs on schedule.

Sails Toward Ohio In Motorboat

NEW YORK (AP)—A 15-foot home-made outboard motorboat left today carrying its 76-year-old skipper toward Ohio and home.

Harvey H. Hecker said he expected to tie up tonight at Newburgh, N. Y., about 60 miles up the Hudson River.

Hecker during the last nine months has sailed his little boat down the Ohio from Sandusky, O., to the Gulf of Mexico, hitched rides on oil barges across most of the Gulf and up the inland waterways of the East Coast to New York.

On his trip home, he plans to continue up the Hudson to Albany, through the Erie Canal to Buffalo, then into the Great Lakes and Portsmouth, O.

"Don't ask me when I'm going to be anywhere," he told newsmen. "I only know when I'm starting out."

He added he liked to average about 50 miles a day. The retired civil engineer nosed his boat out of the yacht basin at 12:45 p. m. (EST) against a stiff wind and a current of six to eight miles an hour.

He slowly got across the river to the New Jersey side and soon was making good headway upriver.

Tour County To Push Lisbon Sesquicentennial

LISBON — A caravan of "Brothers of the Brush" and "Sisters of the Swish" will tour the northern part of the county tonight to advertise the village's Sesquicentennial scheduled July 18-26.

The group will include a little German band, a sound truck, paddy wagon and private cars.

They will meet at 6:45 and visit Elkton, Signal, Rogers, Negley, East Palestine, Columbiana, Leetonia, and Washingtonville.

Twenty - five million acres of American soil now are under irrigation, served by canals that would stretch five and one half times around the earth. The federal government alone has invested two billion dollars in irrigation projects.

Salem Quota Club Commended For Work In Hearing Project

Mrs. Augusta Ibele, Mrs. Winifred Hill, Miss Elizabeth Hartman, Miss Eleanor McMurray and Miss Mona McArtor were hostesses at the Tuesday evening dinner meeting of 30 members and three guests of the Salem Quota Club in the pavilion at Centennial Park.

During the business meeting conducted by Mrs. Goldie Schwartz it was voted to contribute toward sending a 4-H club member to the Ohio 4-H Club Congress.

A letter was read from the American Hearing Society commending the club on its aid to the hearing therapy program in Salem public schools. The Quota Club has contributed $500 to the salary of a qualified therapist as a part of its project work. The club members will submit their work hours spent in behalf of the hearing program to the Hearing Societies' "president award" contest.

Edward Harris, who was speech and hearing therapist in the schools here last year, is now in Europe with a group of college young people.

Mrs. Schwartz reported on the installation dinner of the Salem Business and Professional Women which she and Miss Eleanor McMurray attended recently.

September 22 was the date set for the annual inter-city party which is being planned by Mrs. Rinie Wark and her committee.

In reporting on the Salem Federation of Women's Clubs, with which the Quota Club is affiliated, Miss McMurray explained that there are now 13 clubs in the federation. Curtains, drapes, a stove and refrigerator have been purchased for the federation property, the former Smucker home.

During a discussion on future activities it was revealed that Mrs. Margaret Horch and members of her ways and means committee are planning one or two projects for fall. "Brooms" is the project of a section of the club.

Mrs. Elizabeth Baker reminded the women to notify her if they are unable to be present at the meetings.

Fun for the evening was provided by a game and Miss Ruth Hoch, Miss Murray and Mrs. Ray Pearce won the prizes. Other prizes in the birthday surprise went to Miss Lillie Curtis, Miss Elsie Thomas and Miss Hoch.

The next meeting, July 21, will be in the Memorial Building.

Butler Grangers Plan Annual Picnic

Mrs. Warren Stewart and Mrs. Jack Stewart were obligated in the third and fourth degrees at the Wednesday night meeting of Butler Grange.

The grange adopted the by-laws recommended by the state grange.

In contests sponsored by the grange, Mrs. Lee Whinery won first place and Mrs. George Walton, second for their lunch cloths, and winners in the cookie baking contest were Mrs. Paul Brown, first, and Mrs. George Walton, second.

Centennial Park was the place chosen for the annual picnic scheduled for Saturday, August, 8.

The annual inspection will be held at the grange July 22, and the lunch committee will serve sandwiches, jello and cupcakes.

A steak supper, open to the public, will be a benefit project July 29 at the grange.

Winona Church Women Meet In Ewing Home

The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Winona Methodist Church held a picnic and business meeting Wednesday at the home of Mrs. John Ewing. Mrs. Howard Bailey was in charge of the program topic, "Churches and Industry."

Mrs. Donald Dusenberry conducted the business meeting, and scriptures were read by the minister's wife, Mrs. Earl Brooks.

The next meeting will be held Wednesday, Aug. 5, in the home of Mrs. Harry Hanna of Guilford Lake.

NAMES SERMON TOPICS

W. P. Hanks will preach at the unified service Sunday at 9:30 a.m. at Calla Evangelical United Brethren Church. The subject will be "True Worship and Its Fruit." In the evening at 8 p.m. the pastor's subject will be "Christianity Is A Living Positive."

Ross Halamay

Dance Planned By Amvets And Auxiliary

Ross Halamay and his orchestra from Cleveland will play the dance program at the seventh Annual Amvet summer dance which is planned for Saturday, July 18 from 9 to 1 p.m. at the Saxon Country Club.

Amvet members and their auxiliary are cooperating in arranging the affair. Sol Metz is in charge of tickets; Raymond Bartholow, music and refreshments; Alton Fields, finance and Henry Balsley, publicity.

Mrs. Mike Oana, president of the auxiliary, and a committee of auxiliary members, are arranging for the food.

A steering committee comprised of all Amvet members will meet Monday evening in the post home to make final plans.

Also on the Amvet and auxiliary agenda is the state executive meeting Sunday at London, Ohio which Mr. and Mrs. Mike Oano and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Wukotich will attend. Mr. Oana is post commander.

At a recent state meeting of Amvets Ralph Mancuso was named state athletic officer for the year beginning in June; and Mr. Oana will serve on the service and rehabilitation committee of the state for the year.

Pantages-Paparodis Nuptials Scheduled

The Pantages-Paparodis nuptials will take place Sunday, at 4 o'clock in the sanctuary of St. Haralambos Greek Orthodox Church in Canton.

Miss Vasselia Pantages, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Pantages of Alliance, and Thomas George Paparodis, son of Mrs. Dena Paparodis of N. Ellsworth Ave. will be married in an open church service.

A recent party for Miss Pantages took place in the Paparodis home here. Entertaining for the bride-to-be was Miss Helen Paparodis, who will be her maid of honor, and Mrs. Steve Paparodis.

Mrs. Campanelli Fetes Welcome Bridge Club

Mrs. Jerome Kaufman was a guest at the Welcome Bridge Club party Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. Paul Campanelli on Southeast Blvd.

Prize winners were Mrs. George McCloskey, Mrs. William Grimm and Mrs. Russell Northup. Refreshments served by the hostess concluded the evening. July 22 the club will be guests of Mrs. Eugene Clewell at Guilford Lake.

Philathea Class Enjoys Miniature Golf Event

Richard Holsinger conducted the business meeting Tuesday evening for members of the Philathea Class of the First Friends Church in the church and later the group traveled to Sebring where they enjoyed miniature golf.

It was decided not to have a meeting in August but a wiener roast is scheduled for Tuesday, Sept. 1.

Country Gardens Club Hears Talks

Two members of the Country Gardens Club who made a trip to Chattanooga, Tenn. in June shared their experiences with other members when the group met Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. John Stewart on Teegarden Rd.

Mrs. Eldon Grove told of a greenhouse they visited where orchids were raised. She described the various stages of growth from planting until the bloom appeared seven years later. Highlights of interest on the trip were told by Mrs. Willis Zimmerman who centered her talk on Rock City, near Chattanooga.

Nineteen members answered roll call naming the most beautiful flower they had seen recently.

Members brought arrangements of flowers which were judged and then re-arranged. "Before and after" pictures were taken of the bouquets.

Favorable reports were given concerning growth of evergreens, shrubbery and flowers planted by the club members at Perry and Salem Granges.

Mrs. Willis McArtor will entertain the group August 12 at her home on Fairview Rd.

Berean Class Honors Rev. Harold Winn

Rev. Harold B. Winn, pastor of the First Friends Church, was honored at a bon voyage party Tuesday evening.

The affair, sponsored by the Friends Berean Class, was held on the lighted lawn at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Allen, Damascus Rd. Rev. Winn is teacher of the class.

Enrolled in the Winona Lake, (Ind.) School of Theology 1953 Flying Seminar, Rev. Winn will leave Sunday, July 26, for a trip to the Holy Land. Some of the points included are Damascus, capital of Syria; Jerusalem, Nazareth, Cana of Galilee and Capernaum. The group will leave the States via New York City.

Fifty members of the class in attendance enjoyed the hours playing games.

Clarence Townsend directed group singing. A friendship circle around Rev. and Mrs. Winn concluded the party. Mr. Allen, who is superintendent of the Friends Bible School, offered prayer.

The committee in charge was composed of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Roher, Mr. and Mrs. William Schaeffer and Mr. and Mrs. Allen. Lunch was served.

Personal Notes

Prizes in 500 went to Mrs. Ralph Landwert and Mrs. John Fithian, and the traveling prize was awarded to Mrs. Joseph Fisher.

Lunch was served by the hostess. Mrs. Fred Kaiser invited the group to meet Wednesday, July 22, in her home on S. Ellsworth Ave.

Hearts of lettuce with Thousand Island dressing is a salad men usually like. To make the dressing add a quarter cup of chili sauce, a little finely diced green pepper, a hard-cooked egg (chopped fine), and some minced pimiento-stuffed olive to a cup of mayonnaise.

Health To You

Children May Outgrow Unusual Symptoms

A correspondent who signs herself "Anxious Mother," tells of a difficult problem with her six-and-a-half-year-old daughter. For the past four years the little girl has had dizzy spells off and on.

Dr. Jordan

The dizziness lasts for three to four hours, and then the youngster vomits, she sleeps for a time, and then is all right.

According to the letter this little girl has been thoroughly examined by competent physicians and has even had the test of the brain waves known as the electro-encephalogram. Apparently, a definite diagnosis cannot be applied, but the doctors are tentatively treating it as a mild case of epilepsy.

The mother writes that she and her husband are anguished about this and want to know what they should do next.

This is indeed a difficult problem. Quite evidently the little girl does not have real convulsions which would make one think of grand mal, or severe epilepsy, nor is the electro-encephalogram sufficiently abnormal to permit a diagnosis of petit mal or minor epilepsy.

In fact, according to the information supplied, the child has neither convulsions nor mental "blackouts" which are so common with epilepsy.

It is recognized that the condition known as epilepsy does not always produce uniform or typical symptoms. Indeed, variations from the usual are sometimes called "epleptic equivalents" and this could possibly account for the dizzy spells, though one would expect to find something wrong with the electro-encephalogram as well.

The partnets have done everything they could for the youngster, and the child has apparently been carefully studied by competent physicians.

In the light of these facts, the parents must make an effort to control their anguish, and not to become stampeded into unwise activity or search for some easy solution.

It is well to remember that many children show unusual symptoms and then lose or outgrow them so that they become a mere memory.

This is likely to happen in the child under discussion, or if it does not, it seems probable that some clue will arise before long which will make it possible to obtain a definite diagnosis.

The fact, however, that the little girl has had dizzy spells for four years without getting much worse would lead to the hope and perhaps even expectation that she is more likely to outgrow them than to develop anything new of a more serious nature. The parents can take hope in the law of probabilities.

Within the Budget

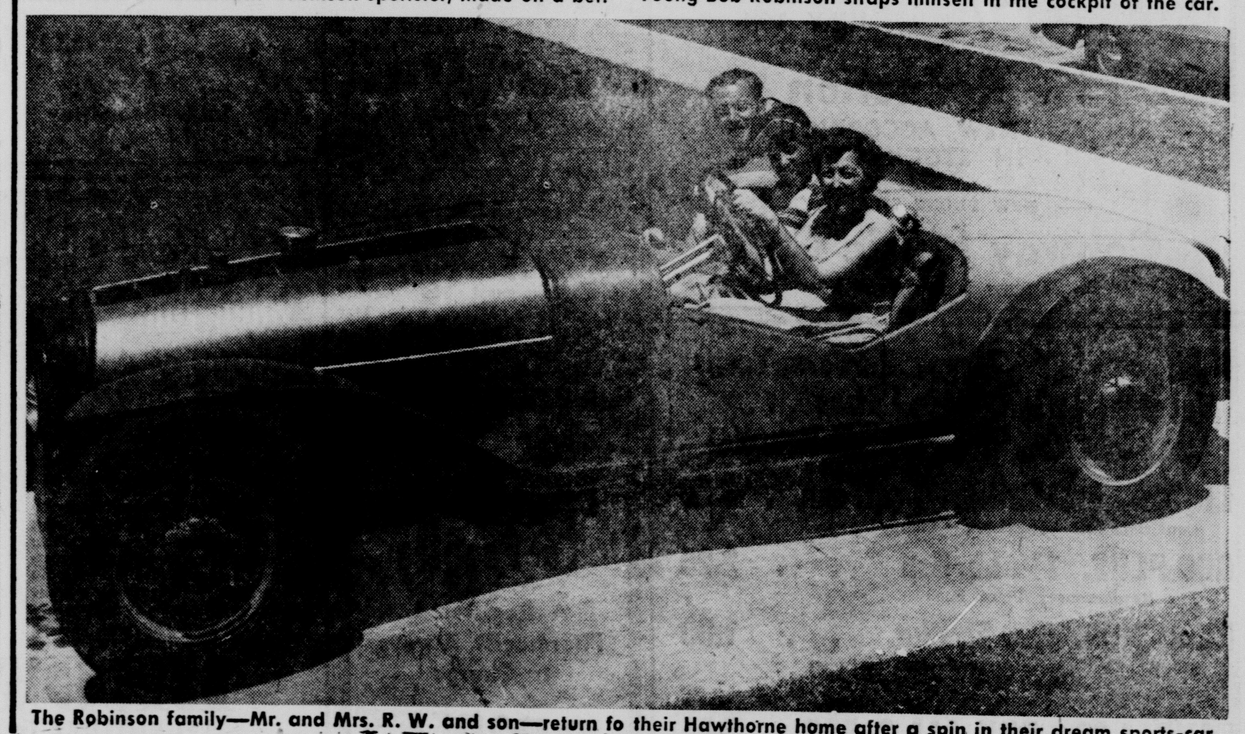

THE DREAM of every sports-car enthusiast is to build his own car, preferably on a shoestring. R. W Robinson of Hawthorne, Calif., is, on a bet. He wagered that he could build one in less than six months for less than $500. He lost the first half of the bet, but the car is nearing completion—the painting stage—and Robinson is well within the $500 limit. He has done all the work himself, using parts purchased for a song from various junk dealers. The sportster will do 100 miles an hour, yet is comfortable and roomy. A 1933 Ford sedan is the foundation; Franklins and Hupmobiles furnished the fenders; bucket seats came from a Chevrolet; the wheels are Kelsey. So far the upholstery for the car is the most expensive item for Robinson. It cost a total of eight dollars.

Front view of homemade Robinson sportster, made on a bet.

Young Bob Robinson straps himself in the cockpit of the car.

The Robinson family—Mr. and Mrs. R. W. and son—return to their Hawthorne home after a spin in their dream sports-car.

McCarthy Blasts State Dept. Approval Of Some Red Books

WASHINGTON (AP)—The State Department stood its ground today in the face of Sen. McCarthy's attack on its new declaration that U. S. overseas libraries can stock some Communist-written books.

"Completely ridiculous," was the way the Wisconsin Republican described the department's policy order yesterday. He sent a sharp summons to Dr. Robert L. Johnson to appear in defense of the order next Wednesday before the Senate investigations subcommittee which McCarthy heads.

But Johnson, retiring chief of the International Information Agency (IIA) which operates the 189 libraries in 63 foreign countries, quickly served notice he does not plan to budge.

In a statement last night, Johnson said the libraries "are in business to advance American democracy, not Communist conspiracy." Agreeing with McCarthy that Communist authors do not speak affirmatively for democracy he said:

"But it would be unwise to foreclose the opportunity of using, to serve affirmatively the ends of democracy, something that a Communist has written for an entirely different purpose.

"In some cases the most effective way to refute propaganda of the Communists may be to turn the words of their own writers against them."

Johnson cited protests against "book burning" which arose after prior orders to purge from the libraries books by Communists, pro-Communists and other controversial writers. He said:

"In cases where books by Communists or Communist sympathizers are already in a library—especially in cases of fiction or other popular literature—we must consider whether the disadvantages of keeping such books may be outweighed by publicity regarding their certain removal which may be unfavorable to the United States and actually promote popular interest in the author and his works."

McCarthy's summons challenged Johnson to tell the subcommittee the names of "those Communists whose writings you feel 'serve the ends of democracy.'" The senator asked Johnson to bring with him "the individual or individuals responsible for the decision to continue the purchase of books by Communist authors."

Johnson clearly is due for some sharp questioning by McCarthy and Sen. Mundt (R-SD), a subcommittee member and one of the authors of the law establishing the libraries to give a true picture of life in the U. S. and thus knock down Russian propaganda.

Mundt said the use of Communist authors' works in the libraries is contrary to the law as he views it, and "utterly silly" on its face.

But Sen. Henry Jackson (D-Wash), another subcommittee member, told reporters the new directive "in general makes sense."

Irregularities Found In Awarding Contracts

NEW YORK (AP) — The chairman of a congressional committee says "irregularities" have been spotted in the handling of defense contracts in the New York area.

Rep. William E. Hess (R-Ohio), after questioning some 60 witnesses, yesterday told newsmen:

"It looks to me like just the first phase of an investigation that will have to continue for some time."

Hess said he wants more information on surveys made before defense contracts were awarded and the qualifications of government ordnance inspectors.

The hearings are scheduled to end today.

Lemon Pitches, Hits Tribe To 9-1 Victory Over Browns

Crucial Series With Sox Opens Tonight; Al Smith Brought Up

CHICAGO (AP)—The Cleveland Indians, with their five best pitchers scheduled for the firing line and a new potential batting power in readiness, open a crucial five-game series tonight with the Chicago White Sox.

For either team, second place Chicago or third place Cleveland, the series could prove a deciding factor in their race to catch the leading New York Yankees.

Manager Al Lopez has picked Bob Feller and Mike Garcia to open for the Tribe in tonight's two games.

Early Wynn, Art Houtteman and Bob Lemon are slated for duty in the last three games, one tomorrow and two Sunday.

Cleveland's new batting hope is 25-year-old Al Smith, joining the club today after leading the American Association in runs-batted-in with the Indianapolis Indians. A third baseman with the Tribe farm club, Smith probably will be put in right field as a replacement for the injured Harry Simpson.

Lemon hurled a five-hitter and drove in three runs to spark his teammates to a 9-1 triumph over the St. Louis Browns Thursday night.

16 Remain In Ohio Tourney; Cardi Out

By FRITZ HOWELL

CLEVELAND (AP)—The race for the Ohio Amateur Golf Championship was wide open today as 16 survivors of 147 original entrants breezed into third round matches over Pine Ridge Country Club's 6,125 yards of treacherous terrain.

Francis Cardi, Ohio State's 20-year-old 1952 champion, failed to get by Thursday's first round matches in the 47th amateur classic, turning the event into a free-for-all. Two matches were on tap today over the heavily-forested par 71 layout and a talent-laden field was still in the running despite a heavy toll in the two opening rounds.

Nine cities still had representatives in the scrap, Cleveland leading with six. Youngstown had three, and single aspirants were on hand from Zanesville, Akron, Dayton, Greenville, Springfield, Gallipolis and Alliance.

Survivors of today's play go into Saturday's 36-hole semi-final to determine Sunday's pair of championship gladiators.

With Cardi beaten 3 and 1 yesterday by Severino P. Severino, Cleveland newspaperman, the favorite role shifted to Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., 23-year-old Coast Guardsman member of the host club, and Tom Jones, Jr., of Youngstown, the 1951 champion and 1952 runner-up.

By JACK HAND
(For Gayle Talbot)

NEW YORK (AP)—The way Casey Stengel's Yankee staff has been going lately, it's a wonder he didn't pick 17 pichers for his American League All-Star squad and let the fans' eight starters go all the way.

Everybody else's pitchers must look good to old Case. Still he left out Bob Porterfield and Mel Parnell, two boys who shut out his world champions within the last 10 days.

Six pitchers don't leave Stengel much room for error in a series where he already has lost three straight to the Nations. Absence of left-handers, with the lone exception of Chicago's Billy Pierce, actually is amazing.

Of course, Stengel has a pretty fair record of pitcher juggling when it comes to World Series games. Nobody who saw it ever will forget how he called in left-handed Bob Kuzava in the late innings of the last game two years in a row—to get out the right-handers!

Although Stengel won't pick his starter for Tuesday's game at Cincinnati until next week, everybody is sure it will be Pierce. The National League starting lineup is loaded with lefties—men like Ed Mathews, Stan Musial, Ted Kluszewski and Enos Slaughter who can knock down fences.

Selection of Satch Paige, venerable St. Louis Brownie, probably stemmed from hte job Satch did on the Yanks the night St Louis broke their 18 - game winning streak. It will be a long time before Case will forget the sight of old Satch ambling in from the bullpen with his pants legs down around his ankles to snuff out the Yanks.

You can't say Stengel slighted any shortstops or first basemen. He picked four of each on the club, counting the two voted by the fans. An experienced baseball man, like Jimmy Dykes of the A's, told me recently he thought two rookies, Harvey Kuenn of Detroit and Billy Hunter of St. Louis, rated with the top shortstops in the league.

With Mickey Vernon, Johnny Mize, Eddie Robinson and Ferris Fain, Stengel can four-platoon to his soul's delight, just as though he were home at Yankee Stadium.

Salem Poloists To Seek Win Number Five

The Salem Polo Club will play Harbor Hills in Columbus this Sunday, seeking win Number five against three setbacks during the season.

The Harbor Hills team also will be looking for its fifth win. It has no losses in the current season and is presently leading the Penn-Ohio League.

Harbor Hills is led by Walter Schapter, a highly rated goal man at the number four position. At number one for Columbus will be Bud Meyers. Frank Harris will go at the number three post, with Bo Baker as an alternate. All of the players on the team are members of the National Polo Association.

The local club will go with the usual lineup, Willy Smith at number one, Captain Jim Pidgeon at the number two slot, Tony Sheen at the number three position, and Roy Bates at number four.

After this Sunday the Salem team will have eight more games to play with half of their schedule completed. Yet to be played are one contest with the Columbus Farms team, two with Youngstown Poland, two with Cleveland, and three with Harbor Hills.

Indianapolis Boosts Lead Over Toledo

By The Associated Press

Pace setting Indianapolis increased its American Association lead over runnerup Toledo to 3½ games Thursday by trouncing Kansas City, 9-1, while Louisville hammered the Sox 10-2.

In other games, last - place Charleston upset St. Paul, 2-0, and Columbus nipped Minneapolis, 4-3. In exhibition games before their league contests, the Indians were defeated by Cincinnati Redlegs 3-1, and Columbus tripped the St. Louis Cardinals, 8-2.

Indianapolis made eight hits good for its 9-1 triumph. Sam Jones won his eighth game of the season as he scattered six Kansas City hits.

At Charleston, lefty Hal Hudson kept six St. Paul hits well scattered and fanned six to gain his fifth 1953 win and his first shutout.

The Red Birds' win over Minneapolis was their fifth straight victory and their 10th in 13 starts. Righthander Ralph Beard allowed the Millers only eight hits including a first inning home run by Ray Berns. Bill Connolly, who started for Minneapolis, was knocked out in the Red Birds' three-run second inning. Columbus scored the winning run in the sixth on singles by Virg Stallcup and Mo Mozzali and a walk to Billy Johnson.

Ted Williams Says He'll Play Baseball Again

By JOE REICHLER

NEW YORK (AP)—Marine Captain Ted Williams said he definitely will play with the Boston Red Sox next year and expressed the hope that he could get permission to participate in some winter ball to work himself into condition.

"It all depends, of course, upon whether the Red Sox still want me," Williams told Fred Corcoran, his business manager, in a cross-country telephone conversation last night.

"After all, I am an old man," he said.

Reminded that he would be 35 next October whereas Johnny Mize is still going strong at 40 with the Yankees, Williams laughed and said:

"I'm no Mize. For that matter who is?"

Ted, who arrived in the United States from Korea yesterday for a series of ear tests at Oak Knolt Naval Hospital in Oakland, Calif., told Corcoran he has no immediate plans since his discharge from the Marines is not due until October.

"Sure, I'll play ball next year, if they (Red Sox) still want me," he said. "But I hope they don't think I'm a superman. Baseball is a game where you have got to be in tip top shape. I'm a little too heavy right now by 10 or 15 pounds. I weigh about 210 but I don't think I will have any trouble getting into shape. Three weeks of conditioning is all I need."

Williams plied Corcoran with numerous questions concerning baseball and the all-star game, scheduled for Cincinnati next Tuesday, and was most anxious to hear how his Red Sox look.

He expressed pleasure over Boston's surprisingly fine showing this season but somewhat sadly predicted that the Yankees will win the American League pennant for the fifth straight year. He picked Brooklyn to repeat in the National League.

In New York, Manager Lou Boudreau of the Red Sox expressed happiness over Williams' decision to return to baseball and said he feels certain he can find a spot in the lineup for the slugging outfielder.

"Show me one club that couldn't use a guy like Williams," he said.

Cubs, Redlegs Meet In 3-Game Series

CINCINNATI (AP)—Home runs figure to be common items at the Cincinnati Redlegs' Crosley Field during the next three days.

The Chicago Cubs will be here for five games in those three days and their Ralph Kiner and Hank Sauer along with the Reds' Gus Bell, Ted Kluszewski and Jim Greengrass ought to be able to satisfy anyone's home run appetite.

There will be a twi-night double bill tonight with Ken Raffensberger and Clyde King of the Reds pitching against Bob Rush and Paul Minner of the Bruins. A single game is scheduled for Saturday and another double bill Sunday.

The Rhinelanders took time off from their National League chores to play an exhibition game last night with Indianapolis, leaders in the American Association, and they managed to win 3-1.

Giants Blank Pirates, 4-0; Phils Beat Dodgers, 6-5

Boston Shuts Out Yankees, Senators Defeat Athletics

By BEN PHLEGAR
AP Sportswriter

First division standings in the hot National League pennant chase hinge on vital series starting tonight in Brooklyn and St. Louis.

Chief American League interest over the weekend will center on Chicago where the White Sox open a five game stand against Cleveland with the runnerup slot in the American League race at stake.

Leo Durocher's suddenly impressive New York Giants, riding a six game winning streak and talking confidently of better things, invade the wilds of Brooklyn for three games with the first place Dodgers.

Milwaukee's second place Braves visit St. Louis for a four game set with the Cardinals, whom they lead by half a length.

The Giants haven't cooled off since they buried Brooklyn 20-6 last Sunday. Yesterday they got a brilliant two-hit shutout from rookie Ruben Gomez to down the Pittsburgh Pirates, 4-0. Brooklyn bowed to Philadelphia 6-5 and the Cards and Braves weren't scheduled.

The hustling White Sox shaved the Yankees' first place margin to five games in the American League by whipping Detroit, 4-2, while the New Yorkers were wilting before the southpaw slants of Boston's Mel Parnell 4-0. Cleveland stayed 5½ games off the pace with a 9-1 verdict over the St. Louis Browns. Washington beat Philadelphia 8-4.

In handing Pittsburgh its sixth straight loss, the Giants climbed within one game of the first division. They've been that close before this season but they've always fizzled out under pressure.

The two Pirate hits off Gomez, the young Puerto Rican who bought his way out of the Yankee farm system during the winter because he didn't think the world champs appreciated him, were singles by Danny O'Connell and Eddie O'Brien. Gomez has 6-4 record with the Giants.

The Dodgers, who beat Robin Roberts the last time they faced him, kayoed him in the eighth inning last night but then their own spotty pitching blew up and the Phils won the game with two runs in their half of the eighth. It was the first time in 29 starts that Roberts has failed to finish. Smoky Burgess, pinch hitting for Bob Miller who took over from Roberts, drove in the tying and winning runs with a double.

Parnell made Casey Stengel's All-Star pitching selections look bad as he threw his second straight shutout at Stengel's Yankees. The victory was the 12th of the year for the 31-year-old lefthander. He's the first in the league to win a dozen.

A two-run homer by Sam Mele provided the winning margin for the White Sox who have lost only five times in their last 26 starts.

The game was a replay of a May 27 contest which went 15 innings and ended in a 2-2 tie because of the night curfew. Fireman Harry Dorish worked 10 1-3 innings.

Bob Lemon won his 11th game of the season as he gave the Browns only five hits and drove in three runs. St. Louis got one safety off Bob Hooper who replaced Lemon in the ninth.

Ed FitzGerald doubled home three runs in Washington's success against the faltering Athletics. Frank Shea allowed six hits and 10 walks but he went the route to post his eighth victory against a single loss.

Al Lopez, manager of the Cleveland Indians, holds the major league record for having caught the most games in a lifetime, 1918. Lopez played 18 years in the majors.

Bliss, Amvets, Homeworth Win Games

The E. W. Bliss Co. nine, top team in the AA loop, shut out second place Butler Grange, 3-0, behind the no-hit pitching of Russell last night at Kelley Park. Also in Class AA the Amvets defeated Mullins, 6-1, and in girls softball, first place Homeworth beat Beloit, 11-1.

Butler Grange pitcher Mercer gave up only two hits to the winning Bliss squad. Jackson and Davis got all the important hits. The Bliss scored two runs in the fourth and one more in the sixth inning. Russell's no-hitter was the first in AA play this year. Bill Herman of Salem Tool, Class A team, also has a no-hitter to his credit.

The Amvets scored two runs in the first, two in the third, and two in the sixth innings. Woods led the Amvet batting with two hits. Buckman and Lanny each had one. Lamm and Hall each got single hits for Mullins.

Scoring in every inning with the exception of the third, Homeworth had little trouble in defeating Beloit. Homeworth pitcher Wayne gave up only two hits to Beloit hitters, while Homeworth got six hits off Beloit pitchers. B. Hahn with three hits led the Homeworth hitting while M. Freshly, J. Stoffer, and McQuilkin each got one hit. Martig got both of Beloit's hits.

Hubbard High Hires Two New Coaches

YOUNGSTOWN, O. (AP)—Nearby Hubbard High School has hired two new coaches. T. Yahn, resigning from the Canton school system, will be a football line coach. Clayton West, head basketball coach at Navarre, O., will fill the same role at Hubbard, assisting in football and track.

Elyria Coach Named

ELYRIA, O. (AP)—Elyria High School's new basketball coach next season will be Dale Reichenbach, who piloted Grand Rapids, O., cagers to 108 victories against 22 defeats in the past five years.

Bliss Pony Team Beats Aldom's Diner

The Bliss Pony League team handed Aldom's Diner its third loss of the season, 10-6, last night at Centennial Park. The Eljer Co. and Mullins played to a 6-6 tie in six innings of play.

Fenton was the winning Bliss pitcher. He fanned 10 batters and also led his team in the hitting department. He banged a grand slam home run in the third inning and got two other hits for three out of four.

Diner pitcher Stewart struck out 12 Bliss batters. Stallsmith, Swartz and Reich each had two hits for the Diner. Wright also had two hits for the Bliss. The Bliss scored six runs in the third and four more in the fourth inning. The Diner scored in the first, fourth and fifth innings.

Ziegler pitched for Mullins, while Huffer, Meissner, and Beall each pitched for the Eljer Co. Ziegler fanned 14 Eljer batters and gave up four hits. Eljer pitchers struck out eight Mullins batters and gave up six hits. Mullins led off, scoring in the first inning and again in the third, fifth, and sixth frames. Eljer scored in the second and fourth innings.

Also last night at Centennial Park Salem Concrete beat the Electric Furnace, 10-7, and the D.A.V. defeated Gordon Leather, 6-1, in Minor League play.

Stranahan Tied With Hogan

Both In 4th With 114 In British Open

CARNOUSTIE, Scotland (AP) — Ben Hogan, the world's top ranking pro, and Frank Stranahan, an amateur, made their rival bids for the British Open Golf Championship today against the pick of a great international field.

They are tied for fourth with Peter Thomson, long-hitting Australian, at 144. Each member of this trio is just two strokes off the pace — a good strategic position.

The last 49 players left in the tournament will play two rounds today over the 7,200-yard, par 36-36—72 Carnoustie course. These 36 holes will have to be played by all the leaders before milling galleries and under great nervous tension.

Others have held or shared the lead here all week but each competitor has been looking over his shoulder at one man — Hogan.

Hogan has missed so many putts by such narrow margins that it seems the law of chance, if nothing else, will get the ball to roll for him today.

Stranahan, the strong-armed boy from Toledo, led the field through the first 18 holes Wednesday but slipped a bit Thursday.

Dai Rees, a Welshman, and Eric Brown, Scottish pro, led the field at the half way mark of this 72-hole tournament. Both had 142.

The dangerous Argentine, Roberto De Vicenzo, was in third place with 143. After him came Hogan, Stranahan, and Thomson.

Then came defending champion Bobbie Locke of South Africa at 145.

Bellaire Brunette Named Miss Ohio

BELLAIRE, O. (AP) — A black-haired, blue-eyed beauty from near Bellaire who entered the Miss Ohio contest as a lark left today to represent her state in quest of the Miss America title.

Eleanor Maskivish, 20-year-old stenographer for a Pittsburgh, Pa., firm was flying to Long Beach, Calif., for Saturday's Miss America contest.

If she does as well there as she did in Cleveland last Friday at the Miss Ohio contest, she'll represent the United States in the Miss Universe pageant later this month.

Eleanor decided to vie for the state crown when she visited her home in Wegee, a small coal-mining town near here, on vacation. Her 17-year-old sister wanted to enter the contest but was too young, so Eleanor entered just for the fun of it.

CARNIVAL By Turner

"He called me stupid in front of his friends—how humiliating is that, coming from a man worth $750,000?"

Unhappy (?) Bachelors

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—You know what causes more old maids than anything? Bachelors.

All women are convinced the only good bachelor is a former bachelor. They aren't really sporting about their hunting. They not only hate the ones that get away from them. They resent seeing a bachelor escape from another girl.

A young lady who returned empty-handed from a recent June matrimonial safari complained to me:

"To get married today a girl practically has to grab a boy while the ink is still wet on his high school diploma. The older men get the more frightened they seem to be of marriage, and after 30 they seem to think it is illegal or underhanded or something.

"Just what is wrong with bachelors? Are they afraid to grow up?"

Well, in the interest of lovelorn ladies everywhere, I called together all the bachelors I know—a mangier-looking, happier body of men you never saw—and asked them bluntly:

"Fellows, what is wrong with you? Why don't you get married? Are you yellow?"

This made them angry. They all joyously agreed they were cads but all denied they were cowards. They divided into two general classes:

1. Those who wouldn't marry the best woman who ever lived, "not even if she was half-angel and had feathers to prove it."

2. Those who hadn't found "the right girl'—and heartily hoped now they never would.

"People have got the wrong idea about bachelors," said one. "They think they are sad, lonely and helpless. But when you see a guy like that he isn't a real bachelor—he's just a prospective husband.

"A true bachelor is happy and carefree. A married man has two bosses—one at home, one in the office. A bachelor has to please only one. And he leads a crowded social life. He is always in demand. Any party is considered dull, even by wives, unless the hostess has a bachelor or two on tap."

Another bachelor broke in:

"It isn't true that bachelors hate women. Nobody loves and appreciates them more. A bachelor just refuses to be a watchfob for any one woman."

"Amen, brother!" chorused his fellow scoundrels.

What basic reason did they have for not marrying?

"Wives insist on treating their husbands like small boys," said one. "They want to mother them. If a wife wants to take the place of one of your parents, why doesn't she act like your father? Your father used to leave you alone most of the time.'

"That's right,' chimed a second. "A modern wife isn't satisfied just to marry you. She wants to surround you, engulf you, and crawl into your mind, too. If you take up golf, she isn't happy until she can beat you at the game. She isn't a partner—she's a competitor."

One miscreant had the nerve to suggest society owed bachelors a debt because they reduced domestic discord.

"When a married couple get on each other's nerves," he observed, "they often call in a bachelor as a friend of the family. They have a few drinks, the wife cooks up a nice dinner, and afterward they watch television or have a pleasant talk. Result: The bachelor has had a swell cost-free evening, and the husband and wife are cooing at each other instead of throwing plates.

"If it weren't for bachelors, more married people would be trotting to divorce courts or psychiatrists."

When I asked under what conditions they themselves would marry, only two of the diehards would even admit the possibility.

"I might be tempted if I could find a woman who could make a martini as well as my barte der,' mused one, "but I think I'm safe.'

"Let me put it this way," said the other. "My father was a stinker—let's face it. He refused to work. So my mother got a good job, and all his life kept him well-fed, well-clothed, idle, happy, and supplied with enough pocket money to bet on the races.

"But where can you find a sweet, old-fashioned hard-working girl like that today? If I knew a warm-hearted, generous girl with a fine job that would lead in time to a good pension . . . and if she had a car . . . and a well-furnished apartment . . I'd marry her . . maybe."

Then he added hastily:

"But the apartment would have to be air-conditioned'

Legion Group Offers Bloch's Fare Abroad

TUNKHANNOCK, Pa. (AP) — Emmanuel Bloch, attorney for Julius and Ethel Rosenberg, recently executed atom spies, came under the fire of a local American Legion group today.

The Legion's District 14 condemned the attorney for declaring, after the execution of his clients: "I feel ashamed that I am an American today."

The district offered in a statement to "pay for Bloch's one-way passage to any country that will allow him to feel shameless because of his citizenship thereof, provided that he guarantee that he will never return to the United States of America."

Washingtonville

Mrs. Donald Spear was hostess to the Jolly Eight Club Thursday. Mrs. Howard Feicht, Mrs. Russell Smith, Mrs. William Grim and Mrs. Walter Warner won honors in euchre. Mrs. Warner will entertain the club next.

Mr. and Mrs. Allen Stirling were dinner guests Tuesday in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eyster, honoring Mr. Eyster's birthday. In the evening a wiener roast was enjoyed.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Lutch of Detroit are visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Spear.

Mr. and Mrs. William Dalrymple and daughter Myrna Lee and Mr. and Mr. George Lee Morrow are enjoying a vacation at Big Meadows and other points of interest on the Skyline Drive in Virginia.

Mr. and Mrs. Claire Reiter and daughter Ivery of Arlington, Va., Mr. and Mrs. William Holtom of Beaver Falls and Mariam Davidson of Tampa, Fla., were Thursday callers in the homes of Mr. and Mrs. Oren McClun and Mr. and Mrs. Stephen McClun.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Bricker of Leetonia were Sunday guests in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stouffer.

Walter Smith of Salem is a surgical patient at St. Elizabeth Hospital in Youngstown. Mr. Smith is a former Washingtonville resident.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Spear accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Spear of Columbus are enjoying a two weeks fishing trip in Canada.

Mrs. Harley Hall has returned to her home in Montgomery, Ala., after visiting in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stouffer. Her daughter Vicki Lynn remained to spend the summer with her grandparents.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eyster of Salem and Homer Joynson spent Sunday in the home of Mr and Mrs. Ralph Eyster.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Zimmerman of Leetonia and Georgette Crawford of Warren were Sunday visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Oren McClun.

Albert Ritchie and William Barton of Columbiana are enjoying a fishing trip at Crows Bay, Ontario, Canada.

She was born in Youngstown March 16, 1881, a daughter of Anthony and Rose Marsk Bernard.

She was a member of St. Patrick's Church and the Altar and Rosary Society.

She leaves her husband, Nicholas, to whom she was married April 21, 1909; two sons, Anthony at home and Patrick of Leetonia; six daughters, Miss Catherine at the home; Miss Rose and Miss Beatrice of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Charles Snzoke of RD, Lowelville, Mrs. John Pritchard of Leetonia, and Mrs. Donald Felger of Columbiana; one sister, Mrs. Charles Frank of Rochester, N.Y.; two brothers, Joseph and Phillip Bernard of Leetonia; nine grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Monday at St. Patrick's Church, with Rev. Fr. W. W. Maund in charge. Burial will be in Calvary Cemetery.

Friends may call at the residence Saturday afternoon and evening and Sunday afternoon and evening.

County School System Has Seven Vacancies

LISBON — With today the deadline for school teachers to resign, Columbiana County School Superintendent James L. McBride said the county system has only seven vacancies to be filled before school opens Sept. 8.

He said all teachers needed are for elementary grades with the exception of a band director for the high school at Salineville.

The superintendent said last year at this time there were 27 vacancies in the county schools. He cited increased salary schedules and new buildings in the county as the reason there had been no big turnover in teaching personnel this year.

15 Firefighters Die In Forest Blaze

WILLOWS, Calif. (AP) — A flash fire driven by a sweeping wind killed 15 firefighters in Mendocino National forest Thursday night.

Bulldozers worked into the blackened seared area today and recovered all the bodies. By midmorning all but one had been identified.

Thirteen of the dead were members of the New Tribes Mission, a religious organization with Pacific Coast headquarters near here. They were in their camp at Fouts Springs, in the mountains, training for missionary assignments in overseas jungles and mountains.

Charles J. Gleeson, reporter for the Willows Journal, wrote in a copyrighted story that the blaze broke out on Powder House Point, in Mendocino Forest, 28 miles northwest of Willows. The area is on Alder Springs Road, in the Coast Range Mountains, about half way between San Francisco and the Oregon border.

The missionaries went to work on the firelines, under direction of Forest Ranger Robert Powers, who lost his life.

Gets Year In Jail On Non-Support Charge

LISBON — Donald Coleman, 37, a former East Liverpool resident, was sentenced to the Mahoning County Jail at Youngstown for 12 months on a non-support charge Tuesday at a hearing before Juvenile Judge Louis Tobin.

He was returned from Longbottom, O., Tuesday by Deputy Sheriff Al Hartman.

Reds May Have 200-500 A-Bombs, Scientist Says

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., (AP) — According to one of the nation's top atomic scientists, Russia may now have 200 to 500 atomic bombs.

"But," added Dr. Alvin C. Graves, "Russia still trails the U. S. both in quantity and quality of atomic weapons. That, I believe is the only reason we are not now involved in a major war.'

Graves is director of scientific tests for the Atomic Energy Commission. His remarks were made in an interview over radio station KOB here last night.

The Washington, D. C., scientist declared that "The greatest danger of an atomic attack lies in the panic which might accompany such an attack."

He urged large American cities to make their plans now for evacuation and relief if an A-bomb were dropped.

Graves discounted reports that Nevada A-tests have affected the statement that more information on the nation's atomic energy program should be made available to the public.

had made public a message to a religious group declaring that "I fully share" its protest that Matthews' accusation was "unjustified and deplorable."

"Such attacks portray contempt for the principles of freedom and decency," Eisenhower said in a telegram to the three national co-chairmen of the Commission on Religious Organizations of the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

"And when these attacks—whatever their professed purpose be—condemn such a vast portion of all the churches or clergy as to create doubt in the loyalty of all, the damage to our nation is multiplied. . . .

"The churches of America are citadels of our faith in individual freedom and human dignity. This faith is the living source of all our spiritual strength. And this strength is our matchless armor in the world wide struggle against the forces of Godless tyranny and oppression."

Farm workers claim the goose can paddle along the water and scratch his head without stopping. The Stahmanns are raising their share of some of these "double duty" birds. They are used as hoe hands in weeding cotton fields and then sold.

Ike Flies To Visit Drought Disaster

AMARILLO, Tex., (AP)—President Eisenhower, on a surprise flying visit to the drought disaster conference of seven governors, today faced spokesmen for cattlemen who demanded federal price supports.

Some 50 embattled Southwestern stockmen from five states formed a new organization in a meeting at nearby Dalhart yesterday. They urged the federal government to put a price support program for cattle into operation at once. The split in the ranks of the cattlemen came after charges that oil-rich ranchers "who can afford rugged individualism" run the big livestock associations.

In Washington, the Senate and House yesterday approved different bills to grant emergency loans of more than $2,500 to individual farmers and ranchers in the drought area.

In accepting the invitation from the governors late yesterday, the President said he would be accompanied by Civil Defense Administrator Val Peterson and Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Benson.

Axle-Mile

almost exactly. Five Democrats joined 17 Republicans to approve the new tax on big trucks 22-11.

Senate Majority Leader C. Stanley Mechem R-Arbens was cheered because he managed to round up enough Republican votes to pass the controversial bill without Democratic help, although he acknowledged Democratic Gov. Frank J. Lausche's support.

But at the height of Mechem's joy, fury broke among Republicans over a bill designed to give local government a share of the increased highway funds.

The House two months ago voted to split the 11½ million dollar state highway maintenance fund three ways — 4½ millions for cities, 4½ millions for townships. This distribution was in view of the 43 millions a year the Legislature expects from the axle-mile and a one-cent gasoline tax increase.

Some Senate Republicans, particularly the Cincinnati delegation, insisted the distribution be split again — with half the total remaining in the highway department.

Last Monday night, Sen. Oakley Collins (R-Lawrence) made the motion in the Senate Taxation Committee to slash the road fund distribution to local governments by half.

The Cincinnatians — and Mechem — thought the deal was arranged. They claimed some senators voted for the axle-mile tax on assurances the distribution to local governments would be cut.

Then, as soon as the fund distribution measure reached the Senate floor, Collins moved to amend the bill right back where it was when it arrived from the House.

Fourteen Republicans and nine Democrats combined to approve the original distribution system, 23-10.

Within seconds after the vote, Sen. William H. Deddens (R-Hamilton) was on his feet shouting "Judas Iscariot," "Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde.'

He leveled the heaviest part of his attack directly at Collins and wound up accusing the Ironton senator of "a complete lack of integrity."

Senators and spectators were stunned.

Sen. David M. Ferguson (R-Cambridge) leaped to his feet to demand that the presiding officer, Lt. Gov. John W. Brown, force Deddens to cease his personal attack on Collins. Collins, flushed and obviously furious, kept his seat.

Deddens ended his speech quickly. Sen. Donald Rolf (R-Hamilton), chairman of the Senate Taxation Committee, took the floor, gulped, said, "I guess I won't say anything," and sat down. Laughter followed and Rolf was stung He jumped up, shouting:

"It isn't funny. I worked hard on this compromise. I threw aside all my personal beliefs for this compromise. And now that the axle tax is passed, its opponents are the first ones to grab, grab, grab.'

House Group Okays End To 20% Theater Tax

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House Ways and Means Committee today approved a bill to take the 20 per cent federal tax off tickets to movie theaters.

The bill does not remove the tax from admissions to sports events, legitimate theaters and other places of amusement.

The Treasury had opposed the bill on the ground it would cost the federal government $200,000,000 annually through lost revenues. The staff of the Joint Congressional Internal Revenue Committee estimated the tax loss at from $100,000,000 to $150,000,000 annually.

Sponsors of the bill claimed it was necessary to prevent many movie houses from being forced to close their doors.

Roof Named As Chairman Of Field Day

Chester Roof of Salem will be general chairman for the annual Columbiana County Field Day to be held all day Aug. 5 at the E. S. Lowmiller & Son farm in West Township and adjoining farms, it was announced today by Floyd Lower, Columbiana County agricultural agent of Lisbon.

Plans for the affair were completed when 30 persons attended a meeting Thursday evening at West Local School at East Rochester.

The scheduled activities, according to Mr. Lower, will include farm woodlot demonstrations on the H. B. Hahn farm; construction of a pond on the F. . Nussbaum farm and demonstration of stock shredders on brush at the Junior Summers farm.

Approximately 10 area implement dealers will demonstrate farm equipment. Demonstrators will mow, rake and bail straw; plow; fit soil and spread lime. Pasture equipment and seeders also will be demonstrated.

There will be two wagon tours of the Lowmiller farms. Ten men from the Soil Conservation Service will act as guides.

Program committee chairman, H. L. Reuter of the Soil Conservation Service at Lisbon, will be assisted by five specialists from Ohio State University.

The committee is composed of the following: Oren Parker of Minerva, and Albert Kump of Salem, budget, concessions and exhibits; Robert Summer of Kensington, legal; Frank Hahn of Minerva, grounds and safety; Harry Smith of Lisbon, publicity; Donald Stafford of East Rochester, machinery; and Edgar Haynam of Minerva, parking.

Harry Smith of Lisbon is secretary - treasurer.
